Nine Miles

Nine Miles is the birth place of the late great Reggae superstar Bob Marley and is also his final resting place. About 60 miles from Montego Bay, or 1.5 hours driving, it is located just outside of Brown's Town in the heart of the parish of St. Ann- not far from the Ocho Rios area. On arrival, you are greeted by a Rasta man who will guide you through the black gates, up a steep but beautifully paved walkway and up to Bob's childhood home and his resting place and enlighten you on the Rastafarian religion.

Glistening Waters

One of Jamaica's (and the world's) most unusual spectacles, the luminous micro-organisms at Glistening Waters really are something to see. There are only a handful of locations world-wide where the warm waters of a fresh water river flow into a shallow lagoon of colder sea water allowing the luminous micro-organisms to thrive. Go for a swim in the water at night and movements in the water will cause these organisms to glow brightly.

It is a fascinating experience!
